

About Us

Baltimore's Own. Family Owned.

We've been a Baltimore staple since 1944. As a family-owned grocery business, our mission has always been simple, to nourish our community through quality food, genuine service, and the care that comes from treating people like neighbors.

What began as a single neighborhood market has grown into two locations. While we've evolved over the decades, our values have stayed the same community first, pride in our work, and respect for the people we serve and work alongside every day.

Our vision is to continue building Baltimore's premier neighborhood grocery destination one where quality, craftsmanship, and community spirit come together. After more than 80 years, we're still growing, evolving, and investing in the people who make it all possible.
